then hunt around for medicine to cure them of the trouble coffee produces, but they keep on drinking coffee and making new diseases right along. That is, some people do. There are thoughtful people, however, and their number is growing greatly every month, who prefer good, sturdy health to sickness, and they leave off coffee because it is a drug that produces disease.

Many people have to learn that this is true by hard knocks, and they get the knocks all right if Mrs. Ida M. Nowyce of Anderson, S. C., says:

'For two years or more before leaving off coffee and beginning the use of Postum Food Coffee my health became very much impaired, as I discovered afterward, from coffee drinking.
"I suffered from shortness of breath, pains about the heart, and the alightest exercise completely exhausted me. My digestion was bad and gas would form in the stomach rendering me wretched. and my life a burden. Medicine did not help the trouble. I was on the eve of giving up in despair when my attention was attracted to the statement that coffee caused some of the symptoms that I had. I determined to abandon it and try Postum Food Coffee. "I had the Postum well made and the result during the past twelve months has been something wonderful. All of the old troubles left. I have been in excellent health, and my friends all notice it and speak of it. I never lose an opportunity of telling them that the change in my health was caused by leaving off a drug called coffee and taxing on a liquid food drink like Postum. WITH GRAVE CRIME. James McElroy, Alias Riley, Dies at Casualty Hospital From Effects

James McElroy, or Riley, who was taken to the Casualty Hospital Wednesday morning by the police of the ninth precinct for treatment for injuries alleged to have been inflicted by Michael J. Farrington, a saloonkeeper of 1001 3d street northeast, as published in The Star at the time, died at the hospital about 5 o'clock this morning. The police were notified of his death and the saloonkeeper was rearrested by Sergeant Kraemer and Policeman Davis. He admitted to the police that he had ejected McElroy from his saloon, but volunteered no information about the alleged kicking. The trouble occurred, it is said, at Fare'clock, and it was not until the following day that the police knew that McElroy had been hurt. Farrington owns consider-able property in Northeast Washington and is well-known there, especially in the vi-cinity of 3d and K streets. He sold his saloon to Patrick H. Hagerty several months ago, and later made arrangements to take charge of the business again. His application for a transfer of the license was acted upon favorably by the excise board Monday. Tuesday he took charge of the saloon, and a number of his friends called to pay their respects. They were all drinking, as was the pro-prietor, and McElroy was one of three who. it is said, had to be put out of the place.

He was fifty-seven years old, according to his own statement. Although he had lived here some time, very little is known of

He did laboring work for a contractor until about ten months ago, and has since done whitewashing, paving and such work for residents of the northeast section. Much of his time, it is stated, was spent about the saloon at 3d and K streets and he was frequently seen under the influence of liquor.

About the time he left the employ of the Do You Try to Wear Eye= contractor he was homeless and apparently friendless. His effects consisted of a cot and trunk, in which he had a small amount of wearing apparel and several toilet articles. Where to put them he did not know, but he found a friend in the person of Mrs. McDonald, an elderly woman living at 321 K street northeast. who permitted him the use of an open shed in the rear of her house. The woman knew the shed was not a suitable home for > place, and it was only because of her charitable inclinations that she allowed him to sleep there. Found in Suffering Condition. Tuesday afternoon, after McElroy was injured, he went to the shed and made himself as comfortable as he could under the circumstances. Wednesday morning Mrs.

and she sent word to the police, and Mc-Elroy was removed to the hospital. Upon his arrival there the patient told the doctors his name was Riley, although he had always been known here as Mc-Elroy. Some time ago he told Mrs. Mc-Donald that a Baltimore policeman was his sister's husband. Inspector Boardman has notified the Baltimore police of this statement in order that his relatives there, if he had any, may be found.

Farrington's Statement. It was not until Wednesday morning. Farrington said, that he knew the man had been injured, and then he called at the hospital to see him. McElroy, he says, told him he did not want to prosecute him and yesterday he sent a paper to the hospital for him to sign. The doctors, he said. would not allow the patient to be disturbed and, therefore, the paper was not signed. At the hospital it is stated that the patient was in a serious condition when he reached there and he grew steadily worse until he died this morning.
